

Becoming a pure partner

Pure

Resourcing
Solutions

Office
Accountancy
Human Resources
Executive

Pure partnership

The key to this scheme is a combination of enhanced recruitment consultancy and flexibility.

Pure Partnership is a scheme that offers added value benefits, in return for your loyalty. We understand that no two organisations work in the same way and pride ourselves on providing a service that adapts to each client's requirements. By committing to a period of exclusivity on all assignments over an agreed time period, we will provide you with the highest level of recruitment consultancy and a package of benefits tailored to your individual needs.

Pure Partnership Added Value Services

Your consultant will talk to you about the range of benefits and then tailor a bespoke package for you. These could include:

- Preferential payment terms
- Remuneration consultancy and advice
- Interview and assessment consultancy and design
- Skills testing & training services
- Enhanced advertising
- Business networking opportunities

So what's in it for you?

By entering into a Pure Partnership we are able to offer you a more tailored, consultative approach; by trusting us with an exclusive period to work on your roles we are able to carefully select and search out the best candidates.

Providing strong CV's, with tailored consultant comments, enables you to gain the most from your interviews and allows us time to thoroughly brief the candidates on your organisation and role.

What's different about Pure Partnership?

Unlike many other recruitment schemes, Pure Partnership is all about flexibility. We tailor a scheme that is most beneficial to you; there are no set time frames or rigid list of benefits - everything is adapted to your own bespoke needs. All we ask is that you give us a negotiable period of exclusivity to allow us to provide you with the highest quality of service.

We like to think the variety and depth of our additional services will add real value. Yes obviously the greatest appeal is the negotiation on rates - we all need to ensure maximum cost efficiencies - but our other enhanced consultancy services will help too, whether it's assisting you with interviews, or ensuring that candidates embrace their new role immediately by letting us advise on your induction process.

Next Steps

Please contact your consultant who will work with you to create a detailed proposal based on your individual requirements.